"Berry Gordy is a true inspiration and has paved the way to signify the sound and the drive that reflects the spirit of Detroit and the people who live in it," said Olivier Francois, Chief Marketing Officer, Chrysler Group LLC. "It is a privilege to have such a legendary icon partner with the Chrysler brand and the 300 Motown Edition."

"The Chrysler brand's imagination moved the world, while our rhythms forever changed music adding a sound and uplifting spirit that could only be from the Motor City. And our new Chrysler 300 Motown is a tribute to both," said Saad Chehab, President and CEO – Chrysler Brand, Chrysler Group LLC. "More than just a brand partnership, our collaboration with Motown Records elevates our passion to express our Detroit roots further and inspire a new limited-edition 300 sedan that embodies the soul and originality of our city."

The spot opens with Berry Gordy sitting in the backseat of the Chrysler 300 Motown Edition parked outside the Motown Museum in Detroit, the building where Motown Records was created. As the car pulls away the voiceover begins to tell the story of sound and drive of the city of Detroit, a sound that still moves people and a drive that allows it to overcome any challenge that comes its way.

As he drives through the streets, images of a young Stevie Wonder, Smokey Robinson and the Miracles, the Supremes and the Temptations flash across the screen and viewers are taken through iconic visuals of the streets of Detroit and eventually transported to the streets of New York where Berry Gordy's destination is revealed in front of the "Motown: The Musical" marquee at the Lunt Fontanne Theatre in New York City. The spot ends with Berry Gordy stepping out of the vehicle and saying, "We are Motown and this is what we do," and announcing the musical coming to Broadway in March 2013.
