Chrysler Brand Partners with United Way for Southeastern Michigan and Scholastic to Donate 148,500 New Children's Books to Metro Detroit Youth

- Chrysler brand combines forces with United Way for Southeastern Michigan and Scholastic to put 148,500 brand-new books in the hands of metro Detroit Youth
- From mid-July through September, Scholastic books will be distributed at sites throughout the metro Detroit area

July 1, 2013, Auburn Hills, Mich. - Starting mid-July through September, Chrysler brand will partner with United Way for Southeastern Michigan (UWSEM) and Michigan No Kid Hungry to distribute 148,500 Scholastic children's books at summer "Meet Up and Eat Up" events, Early Learning Communities, health centers and an elementary school within the metro Detroit area.

"Donating these books is a part of Chrysler brand's mission to drive early education," said Saad Chehab, President and CEO - Chrysler Brand, Chrysler Group LLC. "We hope the distribution of these books inspires children's imaginations and helps to provide them with some of the necessary tools they'll need to achieve a limitless future."

Recent research from the Scholastic-created Kids & Family Reading Report shows that having a reading role-model/parent or a large book collection at home has a greater impact on kids' reading frequency than does household income.

Chrysler brand's book distribution directly supports the efforts of UWSEM and Michigan No Kid Hungry to increase participation in summer meal programs and early education initiatives by creating resource-rich environments for kids, and helping to put books into the hands of children who need them most.

Book distribution at summer food programs, Early Learning Communities, health centers and an elementary school will help provide parents and caregivers in metro Detroit the tools and resources they need to reduce the literacy gap and help more children go to school ready to learn.

Chrysler brand has long been committed to enriching the lives of youth across America. Since 1993, when Drive for the Kids was first introduced, the Chrysler brand and its dealers have worked with parents and educators in communities across the nation contributing more than $4 million directly to local schools for student needs. Participating schools received a $10 contribution from Chrysler brand on behalf of everyone who took a brief test drive in a Town & Country minivan—highest ranked in loyalty 11 years in a row—or another Chrysler brand vehicle that was available for test drive on the day of a test drive event. From playgrounds and field trips to reading programs and new computers, the Chrysler brand is proud of this tradition of community involvement.
