May 1, 2018, Auburn Hills, Mich. - Ram Truck is bringing its own brand of horsepower to the Saturday, May 5 running of the 144th Kentucky Derby® – “the most exciting two minutes in sports.” The brand will showcase its special 2019 Ram 1500 Limited Kentucky Derby Edition truck, a no-compromise leader in durability, technology, efficiency and luxury.

The all-new Ram 1500 Kentucky Derby Edition, created to commemorate the brand's ninth year as “Official Truck of Churchill Downs and the Kentucky Derby,” will be available for race fans to check out at multiple locations throughout the Churchill Downs grounds. It is fittingly based on the brand's top Limited trim and features new “Limited Edition” body-color look and distinctive “Kentucky Derby Run for the Roses” bed graphics.

“With the introduction of the 2019 Ram 1500 Kentucky Derby Edition, Ram celebrates the tireless work ethic of those who make it to the starting gate at the Derby and recognizes that there can be no compromises when it comes to winning the race,” said Mike Manley, Head of Ram Brand – FCA. “The all-new Ram 1500 is symbolic of all of those qualities, as we introduce what we feel is the best truck in the market – the strongest, most capable, most technologically advanced and most luxurious Ram truck ever.”

In addition to the on-site truck displays, fans will see Ram video integrations, backcountry and trackside signage throughout Churchill Downs, and branding on gate crew staff uniforms and on the clothing of jockeys John Velazquez (Vino Rosso) and Luis Saez (Magnum Moon), two of four horses top Thoroughbred horse trainer Todd Pletcher has running in this year's Kentucky Derby. Pletcher was the trainer for last year's Always Dreaming Kentucky Derby winner and also is a Ram truck fan.

On Friday, May 4, a pink-wrapped Ram 3500 Heavy Duty Limited dually will lead the Kentucky Oaks Survivors Parade, a march of breast and ovarian cancer survivors on the Churchill Downs' historic racetrack. Prior to the 144th running of the Longines Kentucky Oaks race, 144 survivors will walk in the parade led by the pink Ram truck.
