Chrysler World Headquarters and Technology Center

The Chrysler World Headquarters and Technology Center in Auburn Hills, Michigan, is the only automotive facility that brings together cutting-edge scientific research, industry-leading creative design, vehicle development, engineering, manufacturing, marketing and corporate leadership all under one roof.

Where:

Located on a 504-acre site in Auburn Hills, about 30 miles north of Detroit

The Complex:

- Chrysler World Headquarters: The 15-story building houses the top corporate executives and staff who handle legal issues, accounting, finance, government affairs, international operations, human resources, labor relations, communication, marketing, sales and service.
- Chrysler Technology Center: The Tech Center houses a 170,000-square-foot Pilot Plant.
- Scientific Laboratories: The Science Labs provide a level of scientific precision that cannot be achieved in open-road evaluations, and their close proximity to vehicle design and engineering operations helps reduce the time and cost of bringing new vehicles to market. The facility includes an Aero-Acoustic Wind Tunnel; Emissions Lab; Powertrain Test Center; Noise, Vibration and Harshness Lab; and Electromagnetic Compatibility Facility.

Size:

At 5.4 million square feet, the complex is the second-largest building in the U.S. in floor space (all under one roof). Only the Pentagon is larger.

Worker Population:

Approximately 15,000 (January 2017)

Parking Spaces:
